VOWELS:(Les voyelles) - There are six Vowels in French Language –

a, e, i, o, u, y.

‘h’ is the vowel mute. ‘H’ is not pronounced in French and normally silent. It is usually followed by another vowel.

Example :hôtel (hotel) [O-T-E]

CONSONANTS- There are nineteen consonants in French Language-

B, C ,D, F ,G ,J ,K, L, M, N, P,
Q ,R, S, T, V ,W ,X, Z.

- If French alphabet ‘C’ is followed by a,o,u ; it is pronounced as (KA,KU) .
- If French alphabet ‘C’ is followed by e,i,y ; it is pronounced as (SI) .

Example: Commencer (C -O-M-A-N-S-E)

- If French alphabet ‘G’ is followed by a,o,u ; it is pronounced as (GA, GU)
- If French alphabet ‘G’ is followed by e,i,y ; it is pronounced as (JE,JI) .

Example: Garçon (G-A-R-S-O)(Here ‘C’ is pronounced as ‘S’ due to accent
La cédille ‘ç’ on ‘c’.

Silent letters: In French certain letters are not pronounced depending on their position in the words:

- If a French word is ending with consonant and that consonant is preceded by a vowel, then that consonant is not pronounced.

Example: Tabac (T-A-B-A) ; Assez(A-S-E)

- When masculine nouns and adjectives are converted to feminine by adding an -e the preceding consonant will be sounded/pronounced.

Example: étudiant [E-T-U-D-I-A],---étudiante [E-T-U-D-I-A-T]
(Student)

Petit (P-E-T-I), Petite (P-E-T-I-T), (small)

- In French the word ‘ille’ combinedly pronounced as ‘EE’

Example:Mille (M-E-E)

- All the nouns in French language are either masculine or feminine. There is no neutral gender. Normally a French noun ending with ‘e’ is feminine. This is not universally applicable. Some exceptions do exist. Two French feminine nouns are given below:

Example: Actrice (actress); Maison (House)

ÉLISION(Elision): Usually when a word ends with a vowel and the next word begins with vowel, then last vowel of first word is dropped (elided) and it is replaced by an apostrophe.

Example: Le homme (the man) : e is dropped or elided = L’homme

La heure (the hour) : a is elided = L’heure

Si il (if he) : I is elided = S’il

LES SIGNES DE PUNCTUATION (PUNCTUATION MARKS)

Punctuation marks in the French language are used in a similar way of English language, but the dash or ‘tired’ commonly serves to denote a change in the speaker in a written dialogue.....

For example: -C’est vous (It is you)

-rien (nothing).

The following punctuation marks are used in dictation practice:

- (.) - le point (the full-stop)
- (,) – la virgule (the comma)
- (;) – le point et virgule (the semi-colon)
- (:) – les deux points (the colon)
- (?) – le point d’interrogation (the question mark)
- (-) – le trait d’union (the hyphen)
- (—) – le tiret (the dash)
- () – la parenthese (the brackets)

1.3 LES ACCENTS (THE ACCENTS) ou (or) LES SIGNES ORTHOGRAPHIQUES (ORTHOGRAPHIC SIGNS)

L’accent aigu: The aigu (acute) accent (é) points to the right and upward. It generally put above the letter e and it changes the letter’s pronunciation to ay—for example, : Médecin (doctor), (M-E-D-S-O); Marché (market).

L’accent grave: The grave accent (è) points to the left and upward. It can appear over vowel- ‘a’ ‘e’ and ‘u’, but it only alters pronunciation when over the letter e. ‘è’ with grave accents is always pronounced ‘EHH’, like the ‘e’ in the English word set.
Examples:

- Très (very); Deuxième (in second place).

When grave accent is put on ‘a’ and ‘u’, the pronunciation does not change, but its meaning is changed.

For example: ou in French means (or) and où means (where), Similarly ‘à’ means (at or to).

La cédille: In French, the cedilla is a little tail under the letter c: ‘ç’. It is used to give the ‘c’ an ‘s’ sound instead of a hard ‘k’ sound (when ‘C’ is followed by ‘a’ or ‘o’ in a word— for example:

- Garçon (boy); Français (the French language)

Le tréma: The tréma looks like two dots above a letter. It’s usually placed above the second of two consecutive vowels when both vowels are to be pronounced separately.

- Jamaïque (Jamai- ca); Noël (Nö-EL)

Le circonflexe: The circonflexe looks like a little pointed hat over vowels. It doesn’t change pronunciation, but it must be included in written French.

- Forêt (forest); Hôtel (hotel)

Le trait d'union (-)-This hyphen, is used to connect words

Avez-vous?

A-t-elle?

L'apostrophe (')-This sign indicates the omission of a vowel.

L'heure instead of La heure

L'ami instead of Le ami

1.4 PRONOMS SUJETS (SUBJECT PRONOUNS)

A sentence normally consists of subject and verb. Further object can be added to it. Subject pronouns indicate who or what is performing the action of a verb. They act as the subject of verbs. They may be singular or plural, masculine or feminine to agree with the noun (subject) they replace.

In French different subject pronouns are determined by number and person.

- Number is divided into “singular” (one) and “plural” (more than one).
- Person includes “first person” (the speaker), “second person” (the listener), and “third person” (neither the speaker nor the listener).

Thus, with two numbers and three persons, there are a total of six grammatical persons, each of which has at least one subject pronoun:

Sujet Pronom (Subject Pronoun)

Sujet Pronom (Subject Pronoun)	Singulier (Singular)		Pluriel (Plural)
	English	French	English	French
Première personne (1st person)	I	Je*	We	Nous
Deuxième personne (2nd person)	you	Tu	You	Vous
Troisième personne (3rd person)	He/ It	Il / Ce*	They	Ils
	She	Elle	They	Elles

*‘Je’ and ‘Ce’ will be written as J’ or C’ if it is followed by vowel.

Example :J’ai , C’est)

Difference between French Subject ‘Tu’ and ‘Vous’: The distinction between ‘tu’ and ‘vous’ is observed on verb conjugations, adjectives, and pronouns. But more than that, the choice of ‘tu’ or ‘vous’ is a matter of etiquette. It explains the relationship between two people and how they interact, and using the wrong pronoun can have negative consequences. In English, the second person subject pronoun is always “you”, but French has two words: ‘tu’ and ‘vous’. ‘Tu’ is the informal ‘you’, while ‘Vous’ is the formal ‘you’. ‘Tu’ is informal and always singular, while ‘vous’ is formal and can be used both singular and/or plural. If one is talking to more than one person, it doesn't matter what ever relationship it may be formal or informal – vous is always used. It is only while talking to a single person, the choice must be made between ‘tu’ and ‘vous’. The informal, singular subject pronoun ‘tu’ indicates an intimate, amicable, and/or equal relationship between two people, and as such it is used with family, friends, lovers, colleagues, and classmates. ‘Tu’ is also used when talking to God, children, animals, and inanimate objects. Using ‘tu’ with someone who doesn't fit any of these categories is likely to cause offense.

1.5 CHANGE OF GENDER

In general, we can make the feminine of the word by adding -e to the masculine adjective.

Example- Petit-Petite (Small), Client-Cliente(Client)

2-If in an adjective, last word ends in an –e mute, then there is no change.

Example-Jeune-Jeune (Young). This word denotes both masculine and feminine.

3- Doubling of the last consonants of the words.

Example- Gros-Grosse(Thick/Fat)

Bon-Bonne (Good)

Indien-Indienne (Indian)

Gentil-Gentille(Gentle)

4- Grave accent on the-e

Cher-chère(Dear)

5- Modification of the final consonants in last words.(F-Ve),(Eur-Euse),(C-Che),(Eau-Elle)

Example-Actif-Active

Sportif-Sportive

Vendeur-Vendeuse (Seller)

Blanc-Blanche (White)

Beau-Belle (Beautiful)

Nouveau-Nouvelle (New)

1.6 LES VERBES (THE VERBS)

Verbs are action words that express the action (He speaks/We play) or state of being (I am student) of a sentence. They are one of the key parts of speech. French verbs have to be “conjugated” or “inflected”. They are changed according to different subjects in different forms. There are six different conjugations for each verb for each tense and mood according to two numbers and three persons.

The basic form of a verb in French is called the infinitive and it is also the name of the verb. The English infinitive is “to” followed by a verb, while the French infinitive is a single word with one of three infinitive endings with: ‘er’ , ‘ir’ and ‘re’.

The verbs in French ending with ‘er’ are normally known as regular verbs and followed similar pattern of conjugation with different subjects in simple present tense as given below:

While conjugating with subject Je- ‘er’ is replaced by ‘e’;

While conjugating with subject Tu -‘er’ is replaced by ‘es’;

While conjugating with subject Il or Elle or any third person singular subject -‘er’ is replaced by ‘e’;

While conjugating with subject Nous- ‘er’ is replaced by ‘ons’;

While conjugating with subject Vous -‘er’ is replaced by ‘ez’;

While conjugating with subject Ils or Elles or any third person plural subject ‘er’ is replaced by ‘ent’

Some French verbs like ‘Aller’ (to go) ends with -‘er’,but it is an irregular verb. For irregular verbs there is no specific pattern/rule of conjugation. One has to remember or practice these conjugations of verbs to apply in framing French sentences.

Example: Conjugation of regular French verb ‘Jouer’(To play) in simple présent(present) tense with different subjects:

Sujet Pronom (Subject Pronoun)	Conjugation of regular French verb ‘Jouer’(To play)
	Singulier (Singular)		Pluriel (Plural)

Première personne (1st person)	I Play	Je Joue	We Play	Nous Jouons
Deuxième personne (2nd person)	You Play	Tu Joues	You play	Vous Jouez
Troisième personne (3rd person)	He Plays	Il Joue	They play	Ils Jouent
	She plays	Elle Joue	They play	Elles Jouent

Example : Conjugation of regular French verb ‘Aimer’(To love) in simple présent(present) tense with different subjects:

	Singulier (Singular)		Pluriel (Plural)

	She Loves	Elle aime	They Love	Elles aiment

AUXILIARY VERB OR HELPING VERB IN FRENCH

In French, when constructing compound tenses, such as the passé composé (past tense), we use auxiliary verbs, also known as helping verbs. In French, there are two auxiliary verbs. They are être (eh-truh), which means 'to be,' and avoir (ah-vwar), which means 'to have.' The verbs avoir and être are important verbs in the French language. we use them to construct the compound tenses. Avoir and être are also used as main verbs in certain situations. They are categorized as irregular verb.

Usage as a Main Verb

- referring to possession
Example: Elle a une voiture. (She has a car)
- when talking about age
Example: J'ai 25ans. (I am 25 yearsold)
- with adjectives
Example: Tu es jeune. (You are Young)
- when identifying things/people (description, nationality, professions, ...)
Example: Il est français. (He is French)
Il est professeur. (He is professor)
- for dates and times
Example: Il est 10heures. (It is ten O'clock).

Usage as an Auxiliary Verb in the passé composé (past tense)

Elle est née .(She was born)

J'ai mangé. (I ate)

Example : Conjugation of Auxiliary verbs: être (to be)-in simple présent (present) tense with different subjects:

Sujet Pronom (Subject Pronoun)	Conjugation of Auxiliary verbs: être (to be)
	Singulier (Singular)		Pluriel (Plural)

Troisième personne (3rd person)	He is	Il est	They are	Ils sont
	She is	Elle est	They are	Elles sont

	Singulier (Singular)		Pluriel (Plural)
	English	French	English	French

Deuxième personne (2nd person)	You have	Tu as	You have	Vous avez
Troisième personne (3rd person)	He has	Il a	They have	Ils ont
	She has	Elle a	They have	Elles ont

Difference between French subject: 'Nous' and 'On'

In French, there are two subject pronouns to express 'we': 'nous' and 'on'. 'Nous' is strictly "we," indicating a specific group of people about whom we are speaking. 'On' is significantly less formal than nous, but can be used interchangeably in most normal conversations. Subject 'On' takes the conjugation of verb of 3rd personsingular (He/Il).

Example: Nous sommes Indiens. (We are Indians)

On est Indiens. (We are Indians)

1.8 HOW TO TELL TIME IN FRENCH

Telling time in French is not very difficult, but it requires a little bit more thought than telling time in English. By Knowing French numbers from 1-59, one can tell time in terms of hours and minutes in French.

- 15, 30, 45: quinze, trente, quarante-cinq.

By Using French statement "Quelle heure est-il?" means "What time is it?"one can ask for the time in French.

The answer will be "Il est _____ heure," to tell the hour.

For example, two o'clock is "deux heures, and five o'clock is "cinq heures.

- 02.00-- Il est deux heures
- 03.00-- Il est trios heures
- 11.00-- Il est onze heures
- 16.00-- Il est seize heures

Add minutes after "heure." In French, the literal translation of 3:15 is "three hours fifteen." Thus, to say 3:15 in French one would say, "il est trios heures quinze." or "Il est trios heures et quart."

4:27 -- Il est quatre heures vingt-sept.

10:12 -- Il est dix heures douze.

19:30 -- Il est dix-neuf heures trente. (dix-neuf heures et demie)

12.00--Il est douze heures. (Il est midi)

00.00- Il est minuit. (Il est zéro heure.)

Shortand popular terms for common times. Half-hours or 30 minutes ("demie") and quarter hours or 15 minutes are denoted by words ("demie") and ("quart"), after "heure" along with "et" (the French word for "and"). Thus, one can say 4:15 o'clock in French as, "il est quatre heures et quart."

Il est quatre heures et quart.

Il est deux heures et demie. (Il est deux heures trente)

8.15-- Il est huit heures et quart. (Il est huit heures quinze)

8.30--Il est huit heures et demie. (Il est huit heures trente)

20.15--Il est vingt heures et quart. (Il est vingt heures quinze)

20.30--Il est vingt heures et demie. (Il est vingt heures trente)

Use of "moins" to denote the minutes until an hour. In English, we might say 6:45 as, "it is quarter-to seven," or 12:50 as, "10 'ten minuit less one." The French do the same thing using the word "moins," which means "minus" in English. So, to say 6:45, we might say, "Il est sept heures moins le quart.

7.45-- Il est huit heures moins le quart. (Il est sept heures quarante cinq.)

10.45--Il est onze heures moins le quart. (Il est dix heures quarante cinq.)

06.55--Il est sept heures moins cinq. (Il est six heures Cinquante cinq.)

1.11 GLOSSARY

PRONOMS SUJETS (SUBJECT PRONOUNS): Subject pronouns indicate who or what is performing the action of a verb. They act as the subject of verbs. They may be singular or plural, masculine or feminine to agree with the noun (subject) they replace. In French different subject pronouns are determined by number and person. Number is divided into “singular” (one) and “plural” (more than one). Person includes “first person” (the speaker), “second person” (the listener), and “third person” (neither the speaker nor the listener).

LES VERBES (THE VERBS) : Verbs are action words that express the action or state of being of a sentence. They are one of the key parts of speech. French verbs have to be “conjugated” or “inflected”. They are changed according to different subjects in different forms. There are six different conjugations for each verb for each tense and mood according to two numbers and three persons. The basic form of a verb in French is called the infinitive and it is also the name of the verb.

LES NOMBRES (THE NUMBERS)-CARDINAL: A Cardinal Number is a number that says how many of something there are, such as one, two, three, four, five etc.

LES NOMBRES (THE NUMBERS): CARDINAL – ORDINAL: An Ordinal Number is a number that tells the position of something in a list, such as 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th etc. Most ordinal numbers end in "th" except for: one ⇒ first (1st) in English. But in French it normally ends with ‘ième’ as listed below.

2.2 CONJUGATION OF FIRST GROUP OF VERBS

As discussed in Unit-1, there are two types of a verb in French-Regular and Irregular verbs. Verbs are grouped into three types ending with -er, -ir and -re.

The verbs in French ending with ‘er’ (except aller),. are normally known as regular first group of verbs and followed similar pattern of conjugation with different subjects in simple present tense as given below:

While conjugating with subject Je- ‘er’ is replaced by ‘e’;

While conjugating with subject Tu -‘er’ is replaced by ‘es’;

While conjugating with subject Il or Elle or any third person singular subject - 'er' is replaced by 'e';

While conjugating with subject Nous- 'er' is replaced by 'ons';

While conjugating with subject Vous -'er' is replaced by 'ez';

While conjugating with subject Ils or Elles or any third person plural subject 'er' is replaced by 'ent'.

In order to conjugate a regular -er verb, in simple present tense the -er of the infinitive is omitted to get the stem. Then the six present tense endings specific to -er verbs: -e, -es, -e, -ons, -ez, -ent, according to the subject is added.

3.3 CONJUGATION OF SECOND GROUP OF VERBS

Different kinds of verbs in French include: regular verb ending with -er, -ir, -re, stem-changing, and irregular. For conjugating regular verbs for each of the first three kinds of verbs, we have to learn some rules of conjugation of regular verbs in each of those categories.

French verbs are conventionally divided into following three groups for the purpose of conjugations:

A)First Group:all regular verbs in infinitive form ending with -er (except aller).

B)Second Group: Some regular Verbs with infinitives ending in -ir form a second group of regular verbs in French .

C)Third Group: It includes all the irregular verbs. It can be divided into following main sub-category:

1. verbs ending with -IR (like MOURIR, VENIR);
2. verbs ending with -OIR (like RECEVOIR);
3. verbs ending with -RE (like RENDRE:);
4. ALLER even if it is terminated by -ER

Regular verbs with infinitives ending in -ir form the second group of regular verbs in French and it is the second-largest category of French verbs. These verbs are also referred to as 'second conjugation' verbs. The French verb with the infinitive ending removed is called the stem or radical.

In order to conjugate a regular -ir verb, in simple present tense '-ir' of the infinitive is omitted to get the stem. Then the stem /six present tense endings are added with: - is, -is, -it, -issons, -issez, -issent according to the subject . The singular and plural forms of the third person are clearly distinguishable (finit vs. finissent). These verbs always use a double radical. One for the singular and the second one for plural persons: fin-is; finiss-ons).

While conjugating with subject Je- 'ir' is replaced by 'is';

While conjugating with subject Tu -'ir' is replaced by 'is';

While conjugating with subject 'Il' or 'Elle' or 'On' or any third person singular subject - 'ir' is replaced by 'it';

While conjugating with subject Nous- 'ir' is replaced by 'issons';

While conjugating with subject Vous -'ir' is replaced by 'issez';

While conjugating with subject Ils or Elles or any third person plural subject 'ir' is replaced by 'issent'.

4.5 NEGATION

To make a sentence negative in French one has to use two negative terms. The first one is "ne" (or "n' " if the word begins with a vowel) and the second most common one is "pas" or others like "plus", "rien", "jamais", "personne". In most cases for turning a positive French sentence into a negative one, we add "ne" before the verb and "pas" after it. When the verb starts with a vowel, we add "n'" before the verb. But in order to say "never" or "nobody" or "no more" we use "plus", "rien", "jamais", instead of "pas".

Je n'aime pas le café -I don't like coffee

(ne + verb + pas formula.)

Je ne mange pas ce soir. -I don't eat tonight.

Vous ne venez pas demain. -You don't come tomorrow.
